Abstract:

The invention relates to a test kit and a specific method for qualitatively and quantitatively detecting DNA in foodstuff. The invention also relates to foodstuff products which come from genetically modified organisms (GMO), preferably from the RRS gene and the Bt-176 maize gene.